Subject: Do what is right, thats all we ask.

Please don't let Microsoft trick the courts, don't let them make a fool of the United States government!

I believe that the judgment will be fair, and should be very harsh against Microsoft for there criminal practices. Whatever verdict is dealt, it should be swift and very painful for Microsoft. Splitting up the company is a sound idea for what should happen. For a company that promotes very bad ethics and business practices, we should make an example of them for future businesses to see...what not to do!

It is not right that they force everything upon a computer user and make it harder for others to live in a computer monopoly. I once used a Windows PC, until someone introduced me to Apple, I will never look back and hope never to. However, if Microsoft continues to dominate and push better more intelligent products aside, some day if there is no grassroots movement (which this is) than we will have no other choice but to use windows, we are so on the edge of that now. Is that what you want? Most people know no different than windows, but they should! If you have not used a Macintosh yet, I seriously recommend finding an apple store and spend several hours using a mac and OS X. Don't be blinded by the excuses that Microsoft uses, don't be taken for a fool! Do what is right, that's all we ask.

Thank you
Michael Neuman

P.S. If Microsoft does want do donate, let them donate all competitors products, (ie. All new Macs and Apple software to go along with it.) Everything is easier on a Mac, everyone, not just children should be using Apple hardware and software; seriously look at the differences - it's amazing what you will discover.
